Lancia Appia Ambulance 1956 RHD You will certainly have experienced the same feeling, but from some classic cars immediately emanates a strong attraction without knowing exactly why. This is just the effect I felt when being confronted with this original Lancia Appia, converted into an Ambulance by "Trasformazione Garavini", which was sold new by the Lancia factory to the Ospedale Civile di Treia on the 18-th of april 1956 (original sales invoice available). She comes with original lamps, siren, stretcher, seat for - hopefully sexy - nurse, little washtub, water reservoir in the roof, etc... This ambulance has covered only 50.000 Km from new and still is in running condition ready for emergency action. The nurse you will have to find yourself, but you will guaranteed get noticed while having great fun during next season's classic car rallies!
